Guest Lecture- Recycling Electronic Waste for E-Clean India

23rd January 2015

There is a little bit of e-waste in everyone's life. Even a broken or dead electronic item doesn't look like a scrap/waste. A typical laptop stored at home has 90% probability of making its way to a landfill or being treated in informal and hazardous way.

A guest lecture on "Recycling Electronic Waste for E-Clean India" was organized by CII YI, Jaipur Chapter on 23rd January 2015 in the AV Hall of The IIS University. The speaker on the occasion was Mr. Prateek Goel.

Mr. Prateek Goel is a serial entrepreneur and a disruptive thinker. Starting his entrepreneurial journey from a university dorm room with friends, over the last five years, Prateek has successfully co-founded a Telecom Software Product company, Teramatrix Technologies, catering to clients in India, Bhutan and Africa - Ghana. Inspired to develop a Marketable Product in Social Domain, he is currently steering ZeroWaste to be the pioneer in Electronic Waste Management. ZeroWaste wants to be the "Simplest way to dispose electronics waste" and is advocating E-Clean India, in sync with Prime Minister's Swachh Bharat Abhiyaan. ZeroWaste creates an effective channel of collecting dead electronic products and indulges into recycling.

Mr. Prateek enlightened the members about various harmful effects of electronic waste, such as, a cell phone uses 65 elements and releases some of the most toxic chemical if burnt. Burning electronic waste is a common act performed in India by the Junk Dealers (Kabadis). The most important thing the students realized was that they should not dispose e-waste by entrusting it to Junk Dealers, instead, it should deposit it to a ZeroWaste branch or the mobile stores associated with ZeroWaste.

It was a great learning and motivating session for students.

Workshop on “Civic Quotient”

2nd February 2015

A workshop on Civic Quotient was organized on 2nd February 2015 at The IIS University, Jaipur.

The workshop was organized by CII YI Jaipur Chapter and Indian School of Business (ISB) along with Bharti Institute of Public Policy under the 360 Degree Leadership programme. The workshop was jointly conducted by Professor Rajesh Chakrabarti and Ms. Kaushiki Sanyal.

Professor Rajesh Chakrabarti is the Executive Director of Bharti Institute of Public Policy and Clinical Associate Professor at ISB. He has published quality papers in several international research journals encompassing Finance, Economics & International Business.

Ms. Kaushiki Sanya is a Senior Analyst at Bharti Institute of Public Policy, ISB. She is leading the Legislative Research Initiative of the Institute.

The day long training involved following three tentative modules:

1. Why engage with policy making process?
2. What is the policy making process & points at which citizens can engage with it?
3. Role of bureaucracy in public policy.

The purpose of this workshop was to educate the college students about the basic percepts of parliamentary democracy so as to help them engage with the political process & push for better policies and better governance. It is important to channelize the upsurge of political activism in the urban youth in such way that their actions are informed by the basic principles and processes that underpin India's parliamentary democracy. Otherwise it may cause more harm than good in the long run because governments respond to populist pressures.

The workshop was a great learning experience for all the Yuva Chaupal members. Yuva Chaupal will always look forward for such learning and enlightening workshops in times to come.

E-waste collection drive

26th-28th February, 2015

An E-waste awareness and collection drive was organized by members of IIS Yuva Chaupal in the University campus from 26th Feb to 28th Feb 2015. The idea behind this activity was to create awareness among Staff and students of the University to a very important issue relating to Environment.

An effort was made by members for a cleaner, safer world by putting up posters in the entire campus, visiting classes and educating students about E-waste and its impact on environment. Also, an enquiry/collection desk was set up by the members near E-Block on all three days. Some contribution has been received by staff and students in the form of mobiles, keyboards, remotes, calculators, printer etc. A small beginning has been made which Yuva members shall take on further.

Earlier in Jan 2015, an E-waste collection centre was set up in Room No 403. Students who now wish to deposit E-waste articles like discarded mobile phones, laptops, computers and peripherals, and small electronic appliances can submit it at the collection centre.

All the collected E-waste articles were handed over to an authorized E-Waste Collector/Recycler in association with CII, Jaipur chapter.

International Yoga Day Celebration

21st June 2015

In December 2014, the United Nations General Assembly declared June 21 as the International Day of Yoga. To support this noble day, Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) and Young Indians (Yi) - Jaipur Chapter, organized a Yoga Session to celebrate International Yoga Day and to send a message of defining yoga as “The Art of Calming the Mind”. Thus, Sunday morning of 21 June 2015 saw more than 50 participants on the grounds of Birla Auditorium. Students of Yi IISU YUVA Chaupal and YI BIBT Chaupal also joined the session.

Mr Praveen Garg , the Yoga Guru took one hour yoga session in which various asans and vyayams were practiced. Going in deep, he also introduced the participants and members with Yama and Niyama that defines the behavior patterns or relationship between the individual and outside world. He made the participants believe that essence of yoga lies in attaining mental peace, improved concentration power and a relaxed state of living.

Members of Yi Jaipur Chapter and YUVA Chaupals participated with great enthusiasm and got acquainted with an invaluable gift of India’s ancient tradition. They actually experienced how Yoga truly embodies unity of mind and soul, thought and action and drives away all the stress of life.

Mr Suresh K Poddar, Chairman CII Rajasthan State Council, who was present on the occasion expressed that Yoga is an ultimate spiritual and physical tonic, the deeper we move into yoga practice; the more intense are its benefits.
